

1 8 2 3

Table Lamp 6279-3 "Waterfall"

The Seventies Family

Like a crystal fountain this lofty table lamp sparkles with cut crystals.

On a very minimalistic brass frame the delicate crystals are arranged. The frame is polished by hand to a shiny brass finish. The crystal is arranged in long chains from small cut beads making the central column and larger beads around the decoration around the candles.

Hans Harald Rath designed this table lamp in the early sixties making use of Swarovski crystals as one of the first lighting products with this material.

Design: Hans Harald Rath, 1962; Modern

Material: Brass; Finish: Nickel

Special requests: metal parts in different finishes, other numbers and layout of candles

Dia.: 30 cm, H.: 50 cm; Weight: 4 kg

Lights: 3 candles; Max. Wattage: 180 W

LOBMEYER